

PRESS RELEASE

Significant update for Guidelines in Practice

20 December 2006. Medendium Group Publishing Ltd is pleased to announce that Guidelines in Practice has been significantly updated for 2007 with new content and a fresh contemporary design.

Guidelines in Practice is the monthly clinical journal for GPs and other healthcare professionals interested in implementing national guidelines locally and practising evidence based medicine. It reaches around 21,000 clinical decision makers at practices and in primary care organisations, along with those involved in practice based commissioning.

Guidelines in Practice will now cover a greater breadth of clinical guidance including:

- NICE guidance
- SIGN guidelines
- Independent professional body guidelines
- Working party (consensus) guidelines.

Articles on new guidance will continue to be featured, alongside implementation and review articles, personal views, 'hot topics' features, and guidelines-related news.

Guidelines in Practice is the clinical journal putting guidance into perspective.
